Our commitment to diversity

The RockTron group is committed to the creation and development of a truly diverse team of professionals; a workforce that reflects the many different communities with whom we do business and beyond. Our diversity policy is comprehensive and makes good business sense. It helps us attract and retain the best people and creates an open environment. Diversity gives us a greater understanding of a wider range of customers needs in different markets and makes it easier for us to do business with them.

We are also committed to equal opportunities and equal treatment for all, regardless of age, disability, HIV status, marital status, race, religion, sex, sexuality or national origin. We expect all our employees to comply fully with these policies at all times.
