Why Choose A Career At RockTron?

RockTron is a world leader in innovative recycling technology, transforming coal-fired power station waste into valuable, environmentally friendly industrial minerals. We have two plants in the UK located at Fiddler's Ferry near Warrington in Cheshire and Gale Common in Yorkshire.

We can offer you a challenging and worthwhile career in an inspirational environment with good facilities, where your ideas and skills will be valued; somewhere you can develop your full potential and be respected, recognised, and rewarded. We provide a safe, enthusiastic and positive work environment with a clear sense of purpose; a place where an individual's success depends only on their ability and performance.

We believe in leading by example and actively engage with all our employees. Everyone who joins RockTron receives mentoring and support to ensure they achieve what they want from their career. Our teams are made up of individuals from all walks of life and we value the unique perspective this diversity brings to our business. We want people to share their knowledge and experience, exchange ideas and challenge conventional thinking.

We are creating an exceptional and exciting new industry; a catalyst that will change fundamentally the way many companies do business and significantly benefit the environment. RockTron is built on integrity, trust and mutual support. Consequently, we want to recruit the very best professionals; dynamic individuals who want to make a real difference.

Our business is built upon smart, eco-mineral innovation. We actively encourage our people to find new and better ways of doing things. We keep our people fully informed about the whole group's progress and our exciting plans for the future. As we continue to grow, so new plants will be built around the world. There are real opportunities here at RockTron for those with ambition, commitment and staying power.
